22. Is this the New Norm: Response to Active Aggressor and Terrorist Events

It's not a matter of if, but when! Responders face the most challenging response of their history when preparing for active shooter and terrorist events. Across the United States and the World, the statistics have told us that we need to prepare now. Whether you are in a rural area, or large metropolitan city, everyone is subject to fall victim and response policies must be developed now. In this presentation, the history of response will be discussed, along with the breakdown of several after action reports to show what went well, and what was learned that could be improved with these situations. We will also break down N.F.P.A. 3000, Standard for an Active Shooter/Hostile Event Response (ASHER) Program. In this document it talks about the "whole community approach" and gives a guide on how you along with your public and private partners should work toward being on a level playing field when preparing for such an emergency.

This class will only be offered on Saturday
