Lexington, KY
June 11-15, 2025

505 Public Information Officer

Internal and external communications for Fire and EMS Departments have never been more important than it is now. In a time where infinite information is at everyone's fingertips, how departments communicate in times of emergency and non-emergencies matters. It is critical to the department's brand that the information shared is factual, accurate, and timely.

In this class, participants will learn how to effectively communicate with the media, members of their community, and also their department. They'll learn what can and cannot be shared on social media, and how effective communication can help increase community trust in your department. At the conclusion of class, students will participate in a mock interview that will prepare them for real world scenarios and challenge them to effectively communicate during times of crisis.

This 1-day course will be offered Saturday.
